

Interfaith Action Abridged Faith Frame

1. We commit to listening to the stories of others and telling our stories, recognizing that storytelling is key to our faith traditions.
2. Our practices and policies are grounded in tenderness - a visceral, loving connectedness we share with all beings.
3. We are committed to ensuring human rights and justice so that all might flourish.
4. In the midst of our differences, our common life guides us to promote human dignity, mutual respect, and dialogue.
5. In our common life as communities of faith, we are to be bearers of peace.
6. People of faith have a bedrock commitment to our common home, including advancing policies and practices towards the protection and preservation of creation.
7. We commit to solidarity with migrants around the world (neighbors in our common home) and work to ensure their dignity, human rights, and protection.
8. We advance the value of the common good as an essential guard against greed and power, advocating for a metric of equality of outcome, not a metric of opportunity.
9. Our common good requires advancing policies of inclusion and equity. We reject systems that oppress people and create inequities, such as racism and other types of systemic exclusion.
10. Grounded in solidarity with the poor and the vulnerable, we advance policies that alleviate poverty, homelessness, and hunger as foundational to our common good.
